

Pangani Class

9th February 2018

Dear Parents/ Carers,

We've had a great week. We begun the week with a vote for our next class story but only the boys were allowed the vote (much to the girls' annoyance!). This led us on to a discussion and a piece of writing about Votes for Women. We then read 'The Magic Pencil' by Malala Yousafsai, this is an incredible children's book telling the story of Malala's own fight for education for all. The children have written some excellent reports about Malala and why education is so important.

In maths, we have been working on division and the children have all become excellent at solving division calculations using a number line. However, they all need a little more practice at reading and solving division word problems.

Next term, we will be having an India Day on March 8th. If parents feel that they could contribute on this day either by helping or by running a workshop on an Indian theme, please let us know. You would be very welcome!

Over the half term, please continue to read with your child each day and practise the 3, 4 and 5 times table. These need to be learned by heart as they will add fluency and speed to their mental arithmetic.

Have a wonderful half term!

Yours sincerely

Eve Jackson
